

DELTA COLLEGE

BEHAVIOR GUIDELINES AND STUDENT CONDUCT FOR STUDY ABROAD

Even though your classes are not in the United States, you are still a Delta student and the College expects you to comply with its codes of conduct (Delta College Catalogue, available at <http://www.delta.edu/classes/coursecat/catalog.html>). Failure to do so could result in your being sent home immediately at your expense to face disciplinary proceedings at Delta College.

While you are visiting another University in another country or participating in a Delta College Study Abroad Program, you should also realize that you are subject to the disciplinary codes of that institution and the laws of that country. Legal protections taken for granted in the United States are left behind when you leave the U.S. The principle of "innocent until proven guilty" is not necessarily a tenet of legal systems abroad. The best advice is to know the rules and laws and obey them. If you get in trouble, seek American Consular and local legal assistance as quickly as possible.

DRUGS

Avoid any possible involvement with drugs. Drug law varies from country to country, but in many cases they are extremely severe, regardless of whether the drug in your possession is for personal use or for sale to others.

AMERICAN EMBASSIES AND CONSULATES

Should you encounter serious social, political, health, or economic problems, the American Embassies and/or Consulates can offer some limited assistance. They can, for example, provide you with a list of local attorneys and physicians; they can contact next of kin in the event of an emergency or serious illness; they can provide assistance during civil unrest or natural disaster; they can contact friends or relatives on your behalf to request funds or guidance; and they can replace a lost or stolen passport. Remember that their primary occupation abroad is to help fulfill the diplomatic mission of the United States government.

STUDENT AGREEMENT

- A. I understand that each foreign country has its own laws and standards of acceptable conduct, including dress, manners, morals, politics, drug use and behavior. I recognize that behavior, which violates those laws or standards, could harm the College's relations with those countries and the institutions therein, as well as my own health and safety. I will become informed of, and will abide by, all such laws and standards for each country to or through which I will travel during the Program.
- B. I also will comply with the College's rules, standards and instructions for student behavior. I waive and release all claims against the College, its officers, employees, and agents that may arise at a time when I am not under the direct supervision of the College or that are caused by my failure to remain under such supervision or to comply with such rules, standards, and instructions.
- C. I agree that the College has the right to enforce the standards of conduct, in its sole judgment, and that it will impose sanctions, up to and including expulsion from the Program, for violating these standards or for any behavior detrimental to or incompatible with the interest, harmony, and welfare of the College, the Program, or other participants. I recognize that due to the circumstances of foreign study programs, procedures, for notice, hearing and appeal applicable to student disciplinary proceedings at the College do not apply. If I am expelled, I consent to being sent home at my own expense with no refund of fees.
- D. I will attend to any legal problems I encounter with any foreign nationals or government of the host country. The College is not responsible for providing any assistance under such circumstances.
